Woman target of 3 hitmen

Canton Township police reported that a local woman is the target of three hit men from New York, who are said to be seeking revenge for her testimony in a drug case.

New York police alerted Canton officers that the three suspects, Fresno Juene (Trigger) Declues, 31, Mark Russell (Mad Dog) Lazarre, 31, and Pascal Bain, alias Joseph Scott, 29, were en route to kill the former New York resident that they had traced to the Canton area.

The three suspects are black males. Declues is a native of Canada, Lazarre is from Barbados and Bain is from Haiti.

Police are awaiting photographs of the suspects to aid them in their search for the suspects, according to Officer Lew Stevens.

Boy, 3, found

A missing 3-year-old Detroit boy was found at the Westchester Apartments in Wayne, where his mother had apparently dropped him off.

The child was released to his grandmother, and the child's mother is being questioned as to why she took the boy from home and dropped him off in Wayne.

Lilly charges writer is not a local voter

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Disturbed and angry anti-deepwell activist R.P. Lilly complained that a recent "letter to the editor" writer, who claimed he "rants and raves" about deepwell issues, is neither a Romulus voter or property owner.

Lilly stated a letter appeared in the May 29 edition of the Romulus Roman accusing him of "ranting and raving" with wild hysterics with respect to the injection well issue.

He added "the letter states that the injection well is not the terrible catastrophe we once thought it was and it implies the tide is turning and citizens are now ready to welcome the injection well with open arms and accept that toxic waste is good for you."

Lilly said "the letter is signed by Angela Wright, Romulus voter and taxpayer." Lilly said he has checked with city officials and there is no such person listed as a registered voter or property owner.

Lilly concludes his own letter by stating "will the real Angela Wright please stand up!"

'Underground surprises' slow downtown project

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

When will the first concrete fly on the downtown redevelopment project?

Anxious Goddard road merchants are seeking stepped up action by construction crews so that their business losses do not continue much longer.

One merchant, Dennis Swaney, owner of the Romulus IGA, revealed his grocery business sales have fallen 25 percent since the construction project began several months ago.

"The sales loss is worsening since now Goddard road is being worked on at both ends (both 5 Points and Wayne road)," Swaney said.

Having purchased the IGA store three years ago, Swaney has made major upgrades (ceilings, floors, coolers, lighting) within the building.

He also has conducted sales programs that aid local schools and has become a director at the Greater Romulus Chamber of Commerce to widen his community involvement.

Now he is hoping that the street project doesn't get extended so long that it curtails his store's future growth or even its survival.

"I plan to work aggressively so that I can reward the customers, who have stood by us during this construction crisis," Swaney vowed.

Bill Crane, owner of Crane's Funeral Home and head of the local Downtown Development Authority, said his business is also down about 25 percent.

He said local business owners attend the twice a month meetings with project contractors, but are becoming frustrated with the slowness of roadway progress.

Those businesses impacted the most naturally are those that require the customer to visit the store or office for products or services.

In addition to the existing businesses on Goddard road, four new store operations have begun since the road project began (or just before) and reportedly are struggling because of the limited access to the center of town.

Mayor William Oakley admitted all was not going well with the major roadway project, when queried at a recent City Council meeting.

In addition to hot, steamy and rainy weather conditions, Oakley said, the project was being hampered with skeleton work forces, non teamwork ef-orts by area utility representatives and the discovery of "many surprises" under the ground.

The latest in a series of DDA meetings with the contractors' representatives was slated for yesterday, too late for publication in this week's edition.

Early this week water taps were being done as a prelude to grading the roadway for the concrete effort, Oakley said, and unfortunately some of the taps broke in the process.

Thus the actual starting date for concrete laying is still unknown, Oakley said, but once it starts it should continue rather fast as "there should be no surprises above ground, unless for some reason some early work was not completed."

The best guess at this point is that the concrete work could begin about July 15.

Oakley admitted that some finishing work on the project may have to be delayed until the spring of 1998.

The concrete road project comes in two phases and extends from 5 Points to Wayne road. Both phases have been started, with the eastern end (Moore street to Wayne road being paid for via state funds).

Confiscated horses to be sold

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

The long awaited Romulus horse auction for five Arabian mares and geldings confiscated from a local horse farm months ago will be conducted at 5 p.m. July 10.

The horses including a nine-year-old gelding, 11 and 13 year old mares and two 19-year-olds (one mare and one gelding), are currently property of the city of Romulus. In recent months the horses have been cared for at the horse farm operated by Romulus native Fred Hay Sr.

Buyers of the horses must prove that they have adequate property to house the animals, a city spokeswoman said.

The auction will be conducted at the Willow Tree Stables at 16562 Merriman road (near Eureka road) in Romulus.

Potential buyers can inspect the horses beginning at 3 p.m. that date and the auction will start promptly at 5 p.m. It is expected to last only about a half hour. The auctioneer will be Rollo A. Juckette.

Registration papers will be offered with the horses. Buyers will be asked to sign city waivers and provide their own transportation for the horses.

The terms of the sale are cash or personal check with proper identification.

3 set for treasurer battle in primary

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

The citizens of Romulus will have a rare opportunity on Sept. 9. They will get a chance to take part in a primary for city treasurer.

Lining up for the treasurer's race are Pamela Kersey, currently deputy city clerk; Kris Moe, 53, now the city's purchasing-computer services director; and Howard Kesner, 50, a veteran Romulus school trustee.

In the past decade, incumbent Treasurer James Napierkowski ran unopposed for a string of two year terms.

Kersey, who has served as City Clerk Linda Choate's number two in command for the past 13 years, decided to get into the political battle this year with the advent of four year terms.

The veteran city official graduated from Romulus High School in 1974 and later earned a Bachelor of Science degree with a major in business administration from Western Michigan University. While at Romulus High she was a member of the first girl's basketball team and was a cheerleader for the boy's football and basketball squads. She also was named to the school's National Honor Society.

She and her husband, Ronald, have two school age children.

Kersey feels the voters will support her because she uses her extensive financial training each year while drawing up the budgets for city elections, clerk's office and the city council.

She is a certified municipal clerk and feels the thing that separates her from her two opponents, is that she has spent her "adult life in the public section, where they spent most of their careers in the private sector."

She added "I feel I will be the people's choice."

"Working for almost 14 years in the City Clerk's office has trained me to meet deadlines and to follow state laws."

Working for almost 14 years in the City Clerk's office has trained me to meet deadlines and to follow state laws. That structured background will greatly enhance my efforts as treasurer.
- Pamela Kersey

That structured background will greatly enhance my efforts as treasurer," Kersey said.

Moe, who has resided in Romulus for 23 years, holds a Bachelor of Science degree in accounting from Detroit College of Business in Dearborn and a Master of Science in taxation from Walsh College in Troy.

The U.S. Navy veteran also has owned an accounting and tax business for the past 23 years. He and his wife, Viviane, have four children.

Moe said recently he decided to run for public office "to utilize the financial skills I have acquired over the past 30 years...with integrity and dedication."

The first-time candidate said "the issue in the treasurer's office is one of serving all residents in a timely manner and working closely with all other city departments."

Moe currently is president-elect of the Romulus Rotary Club and is active with the St. Aloysius Parish Council and the South Lyon Jaycees.

Kesner moved to Romulus 20 years ago from Boston and has served on the Romulus Board of Education since 1987, holding all board offices including president. He also serves as a Romulus Planning Board Commissioner.

Kesner has a Bachelor of Science degree from Wayne State University and has earned a Dun and Bradstreet Financial certification. He also currently is working on his Master's Degree in Administration and Finance at Central Michigan University.

A finance and credit specialist, Kesner is currently self employed. He formerly worked for General Medical Corp.

He and his wife, Alice, have four children.

2 million Michiganians to travel on July 4 holiday

The 1997 Fourth of July holiday will find many Michigan motorists celebrating their independence day as they travel in large numbers to popular vacation spots. And more of them than ever before will be taking that trip in a truck or sport utility vehicle, AAA

Michigan predicts.

An estimated 2 million Michiganians will travel 100 miles or more from home during the holiday, a 3-percent increase over 1996 travel. "This holiday traditionally represents the peak of the summer travel season," said AAA

Travel Director Bill Best. "We expect this summer tourism season will be up 4 percent over last year."

According to a survey of 500 state residents, 55 percent of those travelers are heading up to a destination within Michigan. The majority, 77 percent, will travel by auto, truck, or recreational vehicle.

With Independence Day falling on a Friday this year, 70 percent of those surveyed said they will extend their vacation beyond the Fourth of July holiday weekend, to a week's vacation or longer.

On average, motorists will pay 4.7 cents less this holiday than last year for a gallon of gas, and three-tenths of a cent less than in 1995. As of June 16, the per-gallon price for self-serve regular unleaded averaged $1.218 outstate, $1.229 in Metro Detroit.

Parks open Summer fun begins

By JENNY JOHNSON
MCN Special Writer

If you plan to spend time at any of the parks in Wayne this summer -- watch out. The parks are slowly but deliberately being taken over by a small squad of parks and recreation employees. They're armed with arts, crafts, and games. They call themselves the Fun Squad and it is their mission to make sure every child in the city of Wayne has fun this summer.

The 1997 Summer Playground Program started on June 23 and will continue through Aug. 8. It runs Monday through Thursday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at many area playgrounds. Special events are planned for Fridays.

At Jaycee Park located at Annapolis Avenue and Second Street about 20 kids rode in on bikes or were dropped off by parents. They seemed ready for fun and games.

A veteran of the program, Peter Bednarz declared, "I'll play anything."

He said he has participated in the Fun Squad for about five years. Since he lives in the neighborhood, he comes everyday and he really likes doing the Junior Olympics.

Six-year-old Alex said, "This is my first year and the best thing I can do is soccer."

Chris Tinney, another rookie said he was looking forward to playing floor hockey. Each park hosts a different tournament and plays the teams from the other parks. Jaycee Park is the home of the floor hockey tournament.

One of the park leaders said no matter which sport is played, all children get a chance to participate. They can also color, blow bubbles or play on the toys if they want. They only rule is to have fun.

Nancy, a resident of the neighborhood signed up her two grandchildren and a child for whom she babysits. She said she has lived on this block for 37 years and her kids grew up playing in Jaycee Park.

"The kids enjoy it a lot," she said.

There is no cost for this program and children up to age 18 are free to come and go when they want. Activities take place all day. There are two supervisors from at each park to direct activities and make sure parents sign the consent forms.

You can catch the Fun Squad this summer at:

- Angelo DeMario Park- Westwick Drive
- Civitan Park- Glenwood Road
- Goudy Park- Behind city hall- Thursdays only
- Jaycee Park- Annapolis and Second Street
- Kiwanis Park- Howe and John Street
- McClaughrey Creek Park- Annapolis and Treadwell- Wednesdays only
- Rotary Park- Hunt and Kendall- Tuesdays only
- Soroptimist Park- Williams and John Street- Mondays only

Ground broken for center's addition

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
MCN Managing Editor

A decade ago, the Westland Senior Resource Center moved into new quarters on Newburgh Road, and on Wednesday ground was broken for an expansion of the center.

"Ten years ago we came into this building, and now we are growing out of it," said Sylvia Kozorosky-Wiacek, director of the Senior Resources Department, as she welcomed guests to the June 25 ground breaking ceremonies.

She said the addition would keep up with new technology and the needs of the elderly. The senior director thanked the leadership -- past and present mayors and councils -- for their support of the senior program.

Mayor Robert Thomas cut short a meeting in San Francisco to return to Westland in time for the ground breaking.

"I wouldn't have missed this for the world," Thomas said. "There is a common thread in cities and communities all over the country -- they are all thinking about seniors."

Thomas said the Senior Resource Center, known as the Friendship Center, is some place for seniors to call their own, a place for friendships and a place to find help.

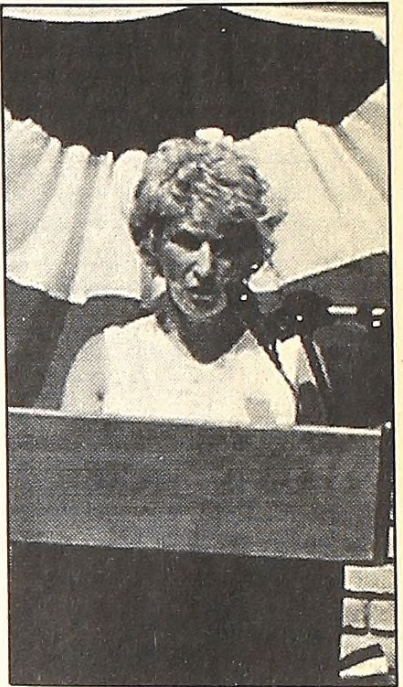

He noted that Sylvia Kozorosky-Wiacek had placed the expansion of the Friendship Center in her budget each year, but until the past year, it had been pulled out due to lack of finances.

"This time, we left it in," Thomas said, adding, "Sylvia does a fantastic job!"

Thomas told the crowd at the ceremony that President Clinton spoke at the mayors' meeting in San Francisco and mentioned the cooperation between the city of Detroit and Wayne County in bringing "great things" to the area, and to the suburbs.

"It was good to hear our area mentioned," Thomas said.

Westland City Council President Sandra Cicirelli said the addition is the culmination of a lot of hard work of past and present mayors and councils.

James Gilbert, Housing and Community Development director, was recognized as being instrumental in obtaining funding for the Friendship Center addition.

"Demographics show that there are more middle-aged and seniors in Westland and in surrounding communities, and that the focus is on 'quality of life,'" Gilbert said. "This new addition will add to the seniors' quality of life."

Carl Simcox, chairman of the Commission on Aging, gave a short and very well-received speech, and then officials took out their shovels and turned the first ground for the new project.

Attending the event were Councilwoman Justine Barns, who gave the invocation; Councilman Charles Griffin, Councilman Richard LeBlanc, Councilwoman Sharon Scott and other representatives of the city. Former mayor Tom Taylor, architect Scott Sherman of Architects and Planners, Inc., and Randy Couture of Ron Sen Company, the general contractor, were present.

Bird house donated to City of Romulus

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

The century old two story brick Italianate house originally built by the family of Peter C. Bird is now the property of the city of Romulus, Wayne County Commissioner Bruce Patterson informed Mayor William Oakley.

Oakley's office is currently awaiting the receipt of official papers from the county, so that the local historical society can begin plans to turn the home into a tourist attraction.

By donating the home to Romulus, Wayne County saved several thousands of dollars in moving costs.

For a period of time, the local historical group leaders expected to have to move the home built in 1878 a short distance to the city's historical park.

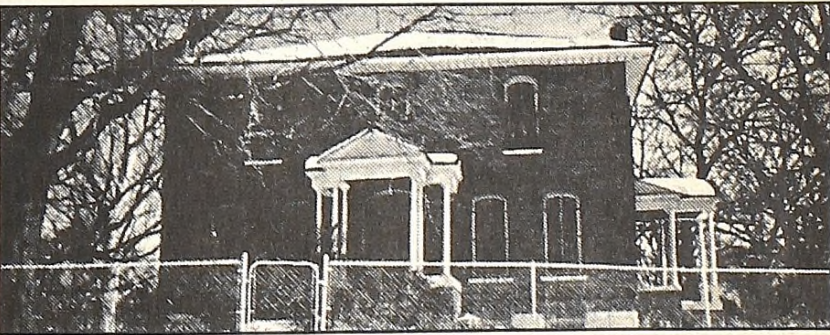

But Wayne County officials, who are planning a turn-of-the-century expansion of Detroit Metro Airport, decided rather than move the home, they could save funds by ceding it and a few adjoining acres to the city.

The original Bird family included, Peter, his wife, Mary Jane (Morris), and their nine children, Alice, Arthur, Anna, Richard, William, Carrie, Edith, Hiram and Peter.

After Bird died in 1912, the house and farm were sold to James Lyons and his wife, Alicia (Richards). Lyons helped build the home while still in his teens and dreamed of some owning the house.

The Lyons had three children, William, Morris and Martha.

Later, about 1923, the house and 160 acres were sold to Walter and Theresa Smolen. Their 10 children included: Mary, Theresa (Betty), Lottie (June), Irene (Rose), Frank, John, Julia, Klara (Bonnie), Joe and Mike.

After the death of Mrs. Smolen in 1945, Betty Smolen remained at the homestead for about a half century until it was sold to Wayne County a few years ago.

Betty Smolen died Nov. 25, 1995 in Rosecommon, Michigan at the age of 83.

Pearl Varner, head of the Romulus Varner Historical Museum, said the local society will hold off making any fundraising plans for the home's restoration, until ownership papers are received.

Detroit baseball trip planned for August

The Detroit Tigers will meet the Cleveland Indians on the field, and in the stands, many Belleville area residents will be cheering the home team on.

The Belleville Parks and Recreation Commission, in connection with the Sumpter Township Parks and Recreation, the Van Buren Parks and Recreation Department, and the Van Buren Public Schools, will be sponsoring Belleville Area Night at the Ballpark on Aug. 4.

A payment of $10 per person will include a reserved grandstand seat, a soft drink, your choice of a hot dog or slice of pizza, and bus transportation (handicap transportation is available upon request). Plus, children 14 years old and under will be permitted to go onto the field and run the bases after the game. Anyone under 18 must be accompanied by an adult.

At 7 p.m., the game is slated to begin. Those attending should check in at the Belleville High School parking lot at 5 p.m., and the buses will leave 15 minutes later.

Reservation forms can be picked up at Belleville City Hall, Sumpter Township Hall, Van Buren Township Hall, and the Van Buren Public Schools Administration Building. All forms and payments must be received by July 18 to reserve your seats.

You can also send your name, the number of tickets needed, your address and telephone, along with a check for the amount due to Van Buren Township, Tiger Baseball Trip, 46425 Tyler Road, Belleville, Mich. 48111.

Smoking and drinking are prohibited on the buses, and anyone under the influence of alcohol will not be permitted to board the bus. For more information call 699-8921.

Dead fish herald Newburgh Lake revival

By IVAN HELFMAN
MCN Staff Writer

Fish kills aren't pretty. But in the case of Newburgh Lake, county officials consider the slaughter of 10 tons of carp a necessary step on the way to Deputy County Executive Mike Duggan's dream.

"Residents will actually be able to eat fish out of Newburgh Lake and eventually swim here," he said.

Up till now, there has been a fish advisory against eating the fish, which were contaminated with PCB, the popular name for polychlorinated biphenyl, an industrial chemical that can accumulate in human tissue and cause cancer or mutate genes.

Duggan, who grew up in Livonia, has happy memories of swimming in the lake, located on Hines Drive, west of Newburgh Road.

However, the lake has been drained and the many trash fish (carp and suckers) and the few game fish (bass, blue gills, and northern pike) were poisoned with rotenone last week.

The chemical, which prevents gills from absorbing oxygen, is only fatal to fish and doesn't accumulate in the environment.

It put 400 fish to death, causing them to float belly up in the weedy shallows of the four-foot-deep lake, before it was drained.

One of the carp, a 35-pound whiskered monster, amazed fishery personnel with its dead bulk.

"We took the dead fish to the landfill in Salem Township," said Jim Murray.

A relief to Van Buren residents who feared the PCB-infested fish carcasses would be dumped at Wayne Disposal, or to Westland residents who expected the polluted lake bottom to be used to cap an old landfill at Holiday Park and an toxic site at the former Cooper School.

Murray said that 800,000 cubic yards of lake bottom were dredged up, including 200,000 contaminated ones.

The lake wasn't always polluted. It was pure when it was created by damming the Rouge River in the early 1900s. And pure when Henry Ford gave it to Wayne County as a present in the 1930s.

The troubles started during World War II, when airplane engine production sloshed poisons into Western Wayne County's watershed. After the war, an auto parts company upstream of the lake caused PCBs to stream into Newburgh Lake, forming sediments, fattening fish, and ending up in frying pans of unsuspecting fishermen. Eventually "Do Not Eat the Fish" signs were posted.

The cleanup and fish kill were financed by a $10 million federal grant, part of the $300 million River Rouge Project.

It will result in clean fish after the county restocks Newburgh with game fish -- bass, northern pike, perch -- in 1998.

"This part of the river, from Merriman north to Novi, is going to be the only part of the Rouge that has its fish advisory removed," said Murray.

Without the carp, ravenous feeders who destroy game fish habitat, other fish should survive.

"We'll restore aquatic plants and contour the lake bottom," said Murray. "We'll create feeding and breeding areas and deepen the lake to a depth of 14-15 feet."

Meanwhile, the entrance to the drained lake is closed off, the offshore clumps of weeds removed, and the geese flown away.

Playing with fireworks invites disaster

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

"Playing with fireworks invites disaster," Romulus Fire Chief David Allison warns area residents, as the nation prepares to celebrate its birthday tomorrow.

Allison states fireworks are exciting to watch and listen to, but rather than risk damage to personal or family member's limbs or property it is much safer to view municipal fireworks en masse.

Deaths, eye damage, burns and even amputations are reported each year across the U.S. as Americans dangerously try to create their own little neighborhood excitement area.

In addition tens of millions of dollars worth of property damage are recorded because of unexpected holiday mayhem.

Many western Wayne County communities sponsor large July 4th fireworks displays, Allison said, and for the sake of your own safety and that of small children it is much wiser to attend such fireworks displays as a family.

One of the other problems

In addition tens of millions of dollars worth of property damage are recorded...

with neighborhood fireworks efforts, insurance experts claim, is that carelessness occurs because the blast operators are usually tired or under the influence of alcohol after a long day of revelry.

"As parents and adults, we have a responsibility to protect our children," Allison said, "and thus even sparklers (which are often thought to be harmless) can heat up to 1,200 degrees and pose serious danger to children's hands or eyes."

Leave fireworks displays to the professionals such as at Elmer Johnson Park in Romulus at dusk on July 4th. "That way, you can enjoy the rest of the holiday weekend in comfort, rather than spend it by being treated or admitted to a local hospital!"

In addition unauthorized possession or sale of fireworks in many local cities and townships could lead to arrest and confiscation of the fireworks items, the fire chief also warned.

Wayne County Sheriff Robert Ficano also reminds area residents that many kinds of fireworks are illegal in Michigan, despite being brought into the state by "bootleggers."

Ficano urges parents to educate their children about the dangers of fireworks, before they lose fingers or use of other body parts.

The sheriff stresses "always follow the directions printed on fireworks packaging and never try to check out a malfunctioning fireworks. Leave it alone for at least one hour and then douse it with heavy streams of water."

Ficano warns fireworks are illegal to sell without a permit. They also are illegal to possess, transport or use in most cases.

The most dangerous illegal fireworks include: cherry bongs, comet (or mine), M-80s, bottle rockets, Roman candles, silver salutes (M-100s), torch varieties or M-250 and M-1000 styles.

District seeks community volunteers for committees

The Plymouth-Canton Community Schools is seeking community members for three District Committees: the Housing and Facilities Committee; the Citizens Finance Committee, and the Long Range Planning Committee.

The Board of Education will select the committee members at the July 8 Board of Education meeting by a random draw.

The District is seeking committee members that are parents of students at the elementary, middle and high school levels, residents without children in school, business people and individuals interested in serving on committees that will impact the District's future.

The committees meet regularly throughout the school year and bring special reports to the Board of Education on pertinent topics and issues.

Individuals interested in serving on one or more of these three committees should contact the District Community Relations Office on or before Wednesday, July 2. Please submit your name, address, phone number and the committee you wish to serve on and send it to the Community Relations Office, 454 S. Harvey Street, Plymouth, Mich., 48170, or call Community Relations at 416-2755 or 416-2757.

Registration under way at Wayne

Mail-in registration request forms are now being accepted at Wayne State University.

Final registration will be held in the Student Center Building ballroom Aug. 25-28.

Classes for the fall semester begin Sept. 2.

Lions Club extends helping hand to visually impaired

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
MCN Managing Editor

Most people know that the Lions Club provides aid to the blind and visually impaired, but not everyone is aware that all the money that is donated to the Lions goes to charitable causes.

A small amount of money that is received through members' contributions is retained for administrative purposes. For example, each person in the accompanying photograph will be "fined" by Robert Watkins, the official Tail Twister, and the amount will go into the club funds.

Mack Mayfield, president of the Westland Breakfast Lions Club, noted that on June 30 the club emptied its treasury by making donations to various groups that aid the visually handicapped.

"We're required to deplete our treasury each year, and then we start again to raise money," Mayfield said.

"Our club has three major fund-raising events each year. On Sept. 27, we'll be hosting a golf outing at Shady Hollow Golf Course. This is our major event, and it is priced at $40 so that it is affordable to all. The second fund-raiser is the Christmas candy cane sale in November and the third is the sale of white cane pins in

VA Wheelchair team departs for National Games

Manufacturers face new air standards

The approval of new clean-air standards by President Bill Clinton will weigh heavy on the public, while at the same time, negatively impact the manufacturing sector, according to the Michigan Manufacturers Association (MMA).

"Michigan manufacturers are already spending millions of dollars to reduce pollutants and improve the environment in their communities," says Matthew Hare, regulatory affairs director at the Michigan Manufacturers Association. "Companies have made a lot of progress in this area, going above and beyond the call of current regulations, and they are committed to continuing their clean corporate citizen endeavors. These new standards, however, are a slap in the face to manufacturers' good faith efforts. Forcing such stringent standards is a step backwards, and by making it more difficult to conduct business in the United States, it is likely that companies will relocate to other countries where the air standards are more reasonable.

Among the many charities that the Westland Breakfast Lions Club contributes to are the Michigan Eye Band, Penrickton School in Taylor and Leader Dogs for the Blind.

"We also contribute to programs in local schools and hospitals and also fund some programs for hearing impaired," Mayfield said. "And, we also take care of our own community. We don't forget our local people when they

County immunization rate at 76 percent

Results of a Michigan Department of Community Health survey show that immunization levels for 19 to 35 month old children in Wayne County, excluding Detroit, are now 76.1 percent. Michigan's statewide immunization level for two-year-olds is 74.1 percent, which is an increase of 13 percentage points from 1994 and 32 percentage points from 1991. The national immunization rate for children is 75 percent. Earlier this year, survey results on childhood immunization rates for the City of Detroit were announced to be 61 percent.

"Protecting children from dangerous diseases must be a top priority. I am proud to recognize the achievements of the Wayne County Health Department for these impressive immunization rates. Increasing child immunizations will truly make a difference in the lives of our children," said Governor John Engler.

Consider facts before decision

Next week, an informational meeting will provide facts and figures to the public about the proposed waste-to-energy project at the Central Wayne County Sanitation Authority facility which serves five area communities.

Thomas M. Barrett, president of Central Wayne Energy Recovery, doesn't expect the public to attend the meeting with a brass band and waving banners to welcome the new project. There are no "fan clubs" for waste disposal facilities, and Barrett would be the first to acknowledge this.

What Barrett sincerely wants is a chance to explain the project to the public and then, after they have heard the facts, make their own decisions on whether the plan has merit. That does not seem too much to ask, but some environmental groups — now flexing their muscles after recent court decisions in their favor — are ready to say "no" to Barrett before he has had an opportunity to explain what the waste-to-energy project could mean to the five communities: Wayne, Westland, Inkster, Garden City and the host community, Dearborn Heights.

Barrett believes that the project will make a positive impact on the environment in several ways.

First, the state-of-the-art pollution control system which will be installed would be one of the cleanest in the world, resulting in the levels of heavy metals being reduced by nearly 100 percent.

Secondly, the recovered energy from municipal solid wastes will be cleaner than the fossil fuels that are currently used in the generation of electricity. The energy generated from the proposed project is slated to be sold to Detroit Edison and is expected to be enough to serve some 10,000 homes.

And, thirdly, it will halt additional landfilling which could pose potential dangers to the environment, and wastes the potential energy which could be generated.

Barrett said recycling will be encouraged because now it will have an economic benefit to the member communities. He noted that recyclable materials, such as metal, glass and lawn wastes, are not combustible so their removal from the waste stream will improve combustion. The composting of lawn wastes also would be encouraged.

The plan also includes the re-training of current, qualified personnel to perform work in the energy plant and estimates some 200 construction jobs will be created.

The economic benefits include significant tax revenues plus money which will be pumped into the economy through increased payroll and operating expenses.

Finally, the waste-to-energy concept has been included from the earliest plans of the county. The draft of the Wayne County Solid Waste Management Plan says, "municipal incineration plans are encouraged to include provisions for recycling, composting and waste processing in conjunction with waste incineration. Material recovery facilities are one method of achieving this."

We encourage residents of the five communities to attend the informational meeting at 7 p.m. July 10 at Inkster High School, 3250 Middlebelt Road, south of Michigan Avenue, and learn first-hand about the project.

Because informed decisions on the merits of the project should be made by those affected, we do not presume to instruct our readers as to whether or not they should approve this plan. However, we hope that the proposal will be received with open minds by those attending the meeting, and that the merits of the plan will be considered, along with any misgivings that the public may have.

Sex in military: What did they expect?

By Edwin Feulner Heritage Foundation

If you think about all the recent stories concerning sex scandals in the U.S. military, you have to either laugh or explode with rage at the harm that's being done by the naive and cowardice of our leaders in Washington.

Think about it: Before the Clinton administration began training men and women together and placing large numbers of women in combat-support roles in the military, it received ample warning from experienced military leaders of the consequences that might follow.

In public testimony, the military brass told Congress something that should be fairly obvious to anyone: If you place young men and women in the prime of their sexual lives in the kind of close, prolonged proximity characteristic of all military duty, sparks are going to fly. No kidding!

Attachments are going to form, sexual activity will ensue, followed by pregnancy (is this beginning to sound familiar?). The fact that there are lots of males and relatively few females will foster clandestine social competition poisoning the work atmosphere with undercurrents of distrust and animosity, not to mention lust. Regardless of whether the situation erupts into overt rape, it will always be disruptive and undermine the cohesion, morale and discipline so vital to the success of life-and-death military missions.

None of this is intended to excuse any of the behavior that has been uncovered.

Military leaders had to explain all of this to Congress and the Clinton administration, and were ignored. Why?

Because the government still provides a haven for certain leftover, discredited, 1960s-era ideologies that don't recognize normal human behavior as given. On the contrary, they see it as the result of social conditioning. People aren't the way they are because of any innate qualities—they're all products of their environment, the behaviorists say. Simply change their conditioning, and people will change.

Believe it or not, our leaders went along with this. Why? Because the current leadership of the United States not only contains a number of people who have been rendered sexually naive by their obtuse ideologies—it also contains an even greater number who are scared spineless of the first group.

Never mind that traditional military doctrine has never contended that "military discipline" could overcome the sexual urge; in fact, quite the contrary. It has always insisted that the close quarters of combat duty was no place to mix the sexes. Never, in literally thousands of years of military experience, has this wisdom been disproved.

Get real, people: Men and women are too much of a distraction to each other to work at optimum efficiency in close military operations where life and death are at stake.

Is this so hard to understand and deal with?

Looking ahead for veterans

Jesse Brown Guest Editorial
 U.S. Secretary of Veterans Affairs

In 1965 my life was changed in a moment by a shot I never heard on a battlefield in Vietnam. Since then I have been driven by an obsession to make sure that veterans, whose lives have also been changed, are not disadvantaged by having honorably served in the military.

For four and one-half years, I have been honored to serve the President and the nation as the Secretary of Veterans Affairs.

With his support, and the help of thousands of members of veterans service organizations, we have made great progress in the delivery of veterans' benefits and services. We have restructured the VA health-care system from both eligibility and delivery perspectives, to serve as a model for health care throughout the country.

We have dramatically improved the time it takes to process a disability claim; broadened compensation to include undiagnosed illness for some Persian Gulf War veterans; and expanded the list of compensable conditions presumed related to Agent Orange exposure. We have expanded programs to help women veterans, minorities, the homeless, and POWs.

There is still much to do, not the least of which is to continually remind the nation that all we enjoy under the Bill of Rights, the laws of the land, and bountiful fruits of this nation, are ours because more than a million citizens died to protect those precious freedoms. Another million and a half came home wounded and scarred for life. We can never fully repay them for their losses. But we must never forget them nor shove them aside when freedom is abundant and unchallenged.

Children located

To the editor:

Thank you for assisting the National Center for Missing & Exploited children in the search for missing children. The distribution of missing children's photographs is an important step towards the recovery of these children. One in seven children is recovered as a result of someone recognizing the child's photo and alerting authorities.

Due to everyone's effort and support, the Center is pleased to inform you that Brian Krumm and Loren Love have been located.

Dog days of summer

To the editor:

As the summer officially arrives and the weather heats up, the Humane Society of the United States (HSUS) reminds readers that pets, like people, can suffer from the heat—especially when left in a parked car.

Like their owners, companion animals enjoy the opportunities warm weather provides for outdoor activities. However, the needless suffering, and occasional death, of an animal imprisoned in a car on a warm day is a tragedy that is entirely preventable.

On a hot and humid day, the temperature inside a car rises very quickly. On an 85-degree day, for example, the temperature inside a car with the windows open slightly will reach 102 degrees within 10 minutes. After 30 minutes, the temperature will reach 120 degrees. On warmer days, it will get even hotter.

A dog's normal body temperature is 101.5 to 102.2 degrees. A dog can withstand a body temperature of 107 to 108 degrees for only a very short time before suffering irreparable brain damage, or even death.

Although many pet owners may not realize the danger of leaving their dogs in parked cars even for a few minutes, their ignorance may prove fatal. A brochure to educate others about the hazards of leaving pets in hot cars may be obtained from the HSUS. It can be placed on a car, in store windows, or on bulletin boards. Please send a business size, self-addressed stamped envelope with your request for flyers to: "Hot Car," the HSUS Great Lakes Regional Office, 745 Haskins Street, Bowling Green, Ohio 43402-1696.

Lilly responds

To the editor:

I have read a very interesting book titled, Toxic Sludge Is Good For You!

This book explains how the toxic waste companies seek out public relations firms and also certain individuals to attempt to improve their public image. These waste companies form "Astro-Turf" citizens groups, designed to discredit the legitimate efforts of the citizens who are opposing the toxic waste facilities, by whatever means necessary.

A letter to the editor appeared in the Romulus Roman (5/29/97) titled "The Tide Has Turned". This letter was accusing R.P. Lilly of "ranting and raving" and wild hysterics with respect to the injection well! The letter states that the injection well is not the terrible catastrophe we once thought it was, and the letter implies that "Tide is Turning" and the citizens are now ready to welcome the injection well with open arms, and accept that "Toxic Waste is Good For You!"

The letter is signed by Angela Wright, Romulus voter and taxpayer.

I have checked with Romulus officials and there is no such person named Angela Wright as a registered voter or as a property owner!

This has a very familiar smell to it! Who went to Texas and came back talking about "Three Headed Babies," cancer etc.

Police Reports

Van Buren's Public Safety Department responded to various calls and complaints during the week of June 23 through 29.

Officers assisted the Wayne County Sheriff's Department in recovering a stolen boat motor at Sandy's Marina shortly before 7 p.m. June 23.

A domestic violence call resulted in an arrest at 9:53 p.m. at the Cracker Barrel restaurant. Later in the evening, police arrested another subject involved in a physical domestic dispute on Lenmore Street.

Approximately 40 headstones were found to have been disrupted at the Tyler Cemetery shortly before 9 a.m. June 24.

Juveniles were found to be consuming alcohol in the 41000 block of Bellridge at 12:10 a.m. June 25.

A report of down wires came at 10:24 a.m. in the 14000 block of Robbe Street.

Larceny from a vehicle was reported in the 10000 block of Lighthouse, along with a stolen motorcycle at 8:50 a.m. June 26.

At 5 p.m., a reckless jet skier was reported at Sandy's Marina.

A motor vehicle crash at 8:46 p.m. June 27 on Southport Road resulted in a drunk driving arrest.

At 11:02 p.m., a resident complained that someone had failed to return the vehicle they let them borrow earlier in the day.

Home invasion was reported at 4:24 a.m. June 28 in the 10000 block of Jackson.

The fire department was called at 9:26 p.m. June 29 to Town and Country to assist a person who had been injured earlier in the day in a motorcycle accident in Washtenaw County.

David Kelly, 27, of Madison Heights, was killed in a crash at Ford Road, west of Napier.

A 1992 Saturn, driven by Chrisanne Miller, crossed the center line and struck a 1987 Ford Mustang, driven by the victim, head on. A third vehicle stuck by the Saturn after the initial impact.

The third vehicle, driven by Carrie Mack, 18, of Canton. She was transported to St. Joseph Hospital by the Canton Fire Department.

Miller was nine-months pregnant at the time of the accident, and her baby was lost. She was taken to U of M Hospital, and her condition is unknown.

The case is under investigation by the Canton Police Department, according to Officer Lew Stevens.

A lawn table and set of chairs were stolen from the front porch of a home on Anthony street in Romulus on June 27.

A green 1996 Jeep Cherokee was taken from a parking lot at the Super 8 Hotel in Romulus on June 27. Hotel guests said they heard a vehicle alarm sound about 6:30 a.m. that day. Also taken with the jeep were a set of golf clubs, cellular phone, travel bag and a laptop computer.

A burglar smashed the front door glass of the Larson Co. on Goddard road in Romulus on June 28. The office was ransacked and $729 in cash was stolen from a desk drawer.

The driver's side window of a 1991 Plymouth Voyager was smashed as it was parked at God's City Church on Beverly road in Romulus on June 28.

A yellow GMC Ryder Rental truck containing miscellaneous tools and computer parts was stolen from the Marriott Courtyard parking lot on June 29.

An airbag was stolen from a black 1997 Ford Escort after 4 p.m. June 30.

The Michigan Humane Society is offering a $500 cash reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of anyone involved in dog fighting.

In 1996 the Society responded to 300 complaints about dog fighting and at least half of the 114 pit bulls brought in by cruelty investigators had been used for fighting.

Information can be relayed by calling (313) 872-3401. All information will be kept confidential.

Summertime speeders are being warned to lighten up on the gas pedal this weekend and observe posted speed limits, according to Lt. Maggie Cesnick of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department. Additional police will be on duty throughout the Fourth of July holiday, she said.

Police will be on duty at peak travel times to ensure compliance with Michigan's speed limits, safety belt and drunk driving laws.

Sumpter halts sale of illegal fireworks

By LORI GILLESPIE
MCN Staff Writer

Sparks flew as the Sumpter Township Board suspended Jason Manley's license he was using to sell fireworks.

The permit was awarded on June 14. Manley set up a table at the corner of Bemis and Sumpter roads 20 minutes before a Sumpter police officer showed up to make a check of the merchandise.

According to Police Chief Clinton Brown, Manley had several packs of class B fireworks, which are illegal to possess or sell in the State of Michigan. The permit only allowed Manley to sell class C fireworks. Class B fireworks are considered pyrotechnic, like those found in displays put on at the Sumpter Country Fest or the Detroit Freedom Fireworks.

"The merchandise was confiscated, and he was ordered to shut down," Chief Brown stated.

Manley claims he was not aware the fireworks were illegal, and added that the fireworks in question were not out on the table, and the officer had to "dig through the car" to find them.

"It was not my intention to sell illegal fireworks," Manley said. "The officer didn't even know what was illegal, and he refused to give me an inventory list of what he took. He said he didn't have to, that it wasn't required in Michigan."

Brown refuted this, stating that his officers did not do a sloppy job on this case, and that Manley was told he could get an inventory list at the police station.

"Suppose we gave you the benefit of the doubt, and didn't suspend the license," said Treasurer John Morgan. "Now suppose a kid goes, and buys one of the illegal fireworks and it kills or seriously injures him. Then what?"

The vendor repeated that it was not his intention to break the law. He was just in it to make a dollar or two.

"Ignorance is no excuse," Brown said. "You were actually breaking the law."

Manley said that when he found out what he was doing wrong, he corrected the prob-

Home Improvement Financing: Myths vs Facts

By Glen Miller
Mortgage Institute of Michigan

Next door, the Smiths just built their dream kitchen. The ranch on the corner just added a sunroom and pool, and the Johnsons just finished their basement. Sound familiar and frustrating?

Many homeowners wishing to make home improvements have been led to believe that they do not qualify for a home improvement loan. Following are some common myths:

Myth: Homeowners with bruised credit will not qualify.

Fact: There are now programs available for every credit grade.

Myth: It is smarter to save and pay cash for a home improvement rather than using the equity you have built up in your home.

Fact: The interest you pay on your home mortgage is the single greatest tax tool available to you. No other method of payment allows you to deduct the interest from your taxes. Also, by using your equity, you can start on your home improvement today.

Myth: If I refinance my home to secure a loan, my mortgage interest rate and payment will skyrocket.

Fact: Interest rates today are still extremely low. Most likely you will be able to secure a rate similar to or lower than your existing one. Your payment should be moderate as your new loan is stretched over the term of your mortgage.

As you consider your home improvement, remember that you need to make the financial decision that is best for you and your family. Consider how long you will be staying in the home, your cash position and the potential tax benefits.

For help in separating the myths from the facts contact me directly at (810) 358-8787. We offer no-cost, no-obligation pre-approvals and can help you make the best financial decision for you and your family. ■

Ole! Celebrate summer at Mexicantown

Every Sunday through Aug. 31, the Mexicantown Community Development Corp. is hosting its outdoor Summer Mercado in the Fiesta Gardens, located at 21st and Bagley, two blocks north of the Ambassador Bridge.

The Mercado is an outdoor marketplace that offers fresh produce, hand made Latin arts and crafts, specialty food booths and live entertainment.

It is open from noon until 6 p.m. and the scheduled programs are free:

- July 6, Star is Born Day, with local musicians, dancers and singers displaying their talents in a "star search."

- July 13, Latin World Day, which features the Latin cultures of Argentina, Spain, Brazil, Chile and other Latin American countries.

- July 20, Garibaldi Mariachi Day with the sounds of the mariachi's serenading Fiesta Garden visitors.

- July 27, Verano Tropical (Tropical Summer) Day with the music of merengues, soul-stirring salsa and the beat of the cumbias (Colombian dance) plus a macarena contest.

- Aug. 3, Family Fun Day with magicians, clowns, face painting, music, dancing and food contests.

- Aug. 10, Tejano Music Day, featuring the music that made Selena a star plus a Quebradita dance contest.

- Aug. 17, Folkloric Dance Extravaganza, featuring the Latin version of Riverdance as traditional dancers parade on stage in extravagant costumes.

- Aug. 24, Remembrance of Yesteryear Celebration, with music from the past.

- Aug. 31, Mexicantown Summer Mercado Grand Finale with all of the contest winners returning to the Mercado. Local performers will show their talents in the action-filled end to the Latin summer events.

Cool pool! Lifeguards paint scene

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
MCN Managing Editor

Dolphins and stingrays swim amidst seaweed and colorful coral adjacent to the Bailey Center swimming pool in Westland.

The unique display was painted on the back wall of the pool this season by lifeguards employed at the pool.

"All of the guards are taking part in this. We had two of them do the actual drawing in chalk. Then all of us filled it in, so we are all taking part in this project," said Debbie Lindquist, pool supervisor.

"We did an underwater scene with sand, dolphin, stingray, coral - in gorgeous colors - and seaweed," she said. "I'm so proud of the mural. No other pool in the state has anything this beautiful that was done by their own guards."

Not only is Lindquist proud of the pool art, but she is also enthusiastic about the new innovations in the swimming program.

"I've been here since it opened in 1977. This is my 20th year as supervisor," said Lindquist. "I've watched it grow into a beautiful swimming area. I pushed for the water slide for many years, and it is absolutely wonderful. The baby pool for the little ones and their parents is also a wonderful addition."

Lindquist said she loves the outdoors and the water, but her "true love" are the lifeguards, who she describes as "the best staff humanely possible."

"These guards have worked for over 7 years. They start in high school and continue through college and grad school," she said. "It's a great summer job for them. These guards become a part of me and are 'my kids.' I'm not only their boss, but their friend. We work as a team and become a family during the summer."

The lifeguards are trained in CPR, first aid, backboarding, have water drills and keep up with their training to continue their certifications, Lindquist said.

'Crim of the Crop' Journalist receives lifetime award

By Kurt Anthony Krug
Special Writer

Prominent journalist Mort Crim recently received a Lifetime Achievement Award from the Metro-Detroit Chapter of the Society of Professional Journalists.

"We (journalists) still have a responsibility to tell the truth and give it context. That hasn't changed.... We have to be sensitive to what (the public) needs to know to make a democracy work," Crim said in his acceptance speech.

Crim, 61, then talked about his first job at a radio station in Blytheville, Ill. in 1953. He said he was hired immediately and was put on the air within 15 minutes.

"While reading commercials, Crim said he misread the word "salon" and called it "saloon." Instead of saying the state was Illinois, he said it was Missouri.

Crim has come a long way since then in a successful career spanning more than three decades. He started out in radio, then broke into TV journalism. He has covered many history-making events, including the Apollo moon landings, and the Yom Kippur War in the Middle East.

Crim worked as a broadcaster in California, New York, Philadelphia, and as a national correspondent for ABC. He came to Detroit in 1978 as the senior anchor for the WDIV-TV newscasts until his departure last month. He also became the permanent vacation substitute for Paul Harvey from 1980 to 1984.

Crim has been known for his stand against sensational journalism, wanting to balance human tragedy with human achievement. He believes many journalists are concerned about this and are making a difference collectively.

"I've interviewed presidents (and many other prominent figures), but the more interesting interviews are with people you've never heard of. People who struggle and sacrifice to achieve their dreams... Those are the real heroes," he said.

Crim is still the vice president of community affairs for WDIV-TV and is the president of his own company, Mort Crim Communications. His "Second Thoughts" segments air three times a week on WDIV. Crim said the reason he left WDIV was because he felt it was time to move on.

"You're better off to schedule your departure than wear out your welcome. It's better to go while you're still on top and people don't want you to leave. It was a good time to leave," Crim said.

He founded Mort Crim Communications, based in Harper Woods, in 1993. The company specializes in the production of TV and radio programs, corporate informational videos, and interactive multimedia presentations.

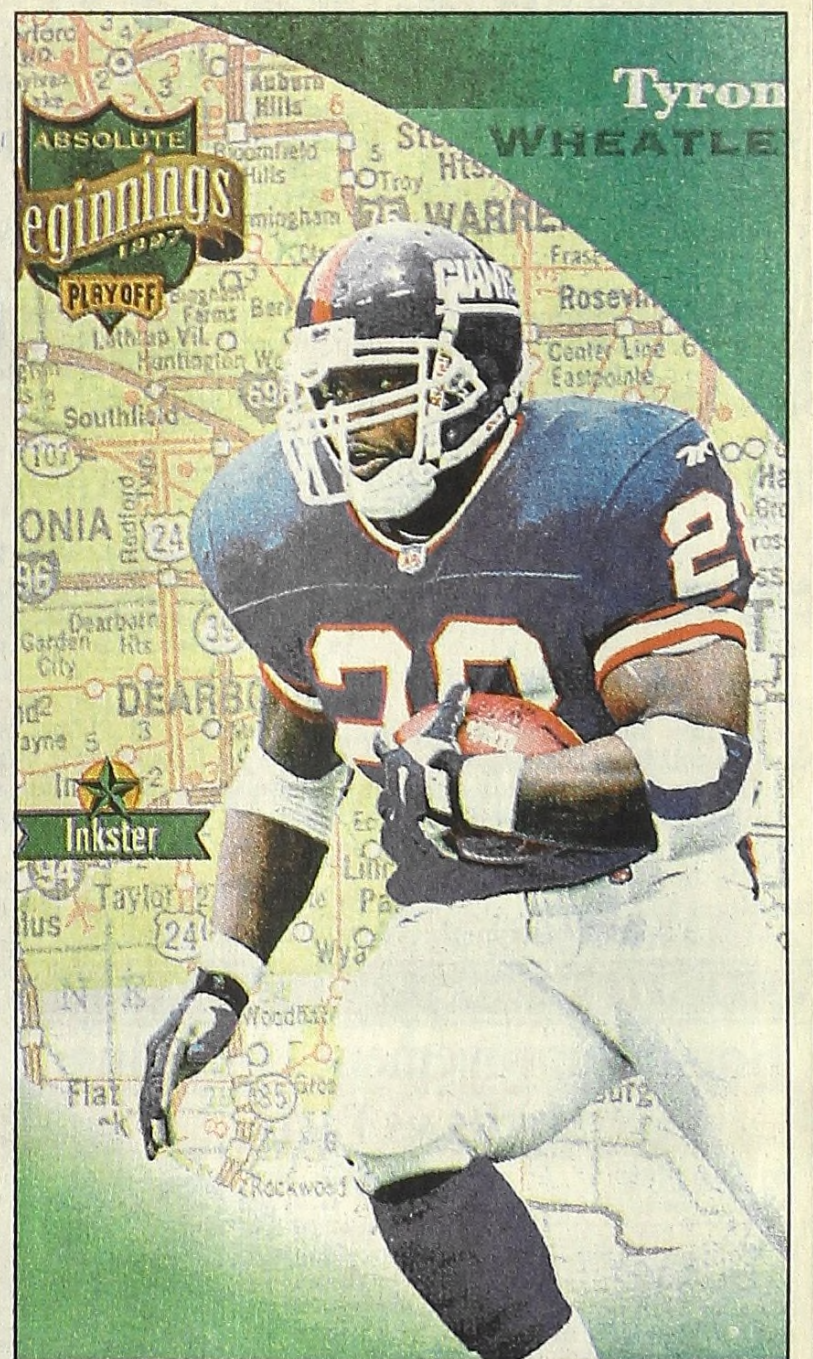

"I wanted to own my own company and control its own direct destiny. It's been a challenge. It's been an uphill battle, but we're winning and having fun," said Crim.

Looking back on his long career, Crim said of all the significant events he covered, there are three major events that have had a tremendous impact on him.

"I covered the funeral of Robert Kennedy, right on the heels of Martin Luther King's and John F. Kennedy's. It was a tough time for the country and we lost some innocence as a nation. The same with the Oklahoma City bombing and the national emotional impact it had on the people.

"On a positive note, the Apollo moon-landing was a mind-changing moment for America, moving us into a new dimension of history," Crim said.

Crim's advice to aspiring journalists is to prepare. "The world is more complex and different today, but the tools are still the same: observe keenly, write precisely, and always care about the truth."

World-class teams focus on tourney

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Wayne is host to 18 topnotch slo-pitch clubs

World-class slo-pitch softball teams will be converging upon the city of Wayne next week to compete in the 21st annual Patrolman Leonard J. Anderson Memorial Softball Tournament.

Larry Quartuccio, who has served as tournament manager for all 20 previous invitational, said the field will include such outstanding national title contenders as Plumbers & Pipefitters out of Lansing which captured the United States Slo-Pitch Softball Association's (USSSA) 1995 and 1996 Class 'A' World Series titles.

"This tournament has always attracted first-class teams and players," said Quartuccio, who also manages one of the entries. "It is a tribute to the slain officer whose memory the tournament and the fans keep alive."

Officer Anderson, an outstanding high school athlete who starred in baseball and basketball, was slain in the line of duty while responding to a domestic quarrel complaint.

He was the first and only Wayne law enforcement officer to die in the line of duty.

The 21st annual tournament will be staged three days, beginning July 18 and will continue until July 20 when the 1997 champion is crowned.

All games will be held on the fields named for the slain officer located behind the city of Wayne's Community Center.

Games will begin at 6 p.m. on Friday (July 18), while the quarter and some of the semifinals games will be staged beginning at 9 a.m. on July 19. The championship round will be conducted on Sunday (July 20).

There are at least four local sponsors who will field teams in this year's tournament. They include: Blarney Bay (Westland), Hitman (Wayne), Jimmies/Easton (Westland) and Metro Glass and Mirror (Westland).

Other entries include: Bandits/Gekle Roofing (Lansing), Charles Too (Livonia), Gaylans Trading/Coke Cola (Indianapolis), Humps (Sterling Heights), Ice-O-Matic/TPS (Novi), Journeyman/Noels Services (Toledo), J & K Transportation (Garden City), Midas Muffler (Dearborn Heights), Little Bill's (Garden City), O'Malley's/K-Images (Monroe), Protection Plus Landscaping (Dearborn), Plumbers and Pipefitters No. 388 (Lansing), Prestige/Bill Corp. (Sterling Heights) and Showtime (Southfield).

The Westland entry - Jimmies/Easton - is currently ranked in the USSSA national polls where they can be found in Class A as the 14th-best nationally. They are third in the Great Lakes Region.

The Westlanders, coached by Quartuccio, won their first Anderson title a year ago, therefore, they will not only be the host for the invitational but also are the defend-

They came from near and far... From Grand Rapids, and from Flint. From Detroit and from Highland Park. They came to compete in the inaugural Tyrone Wheatley Basketball Tournament. But they also came to get a glimpse, a handshake from the former Robichaud High School star who made good on his promise to complete his college education and play in the National Football League.

Wheatley, an Inkster native who led Robichaud to its first-ever Class B state football championship in 1990, then went on to star for the University of Michigan, remaining at U of M despite lucrative prep offers after his junior year in college, returned home recently to help stage what hopes to be the first of many Tyrone Wheatley Basketball Tournaments in a city that earned national attention because of his athletic ability.

The New York Giants running back's charisma remains a drawing power in the city and surrounding communities.

"Tyrone also played in the tournament," said Ruth E. Williams, Inkster parks and recreation supervisor. "He's just a great human being. He's trying to give something back to the kids. To the community. We're all so proud of him."

Wheatley reportedly told Williams that he plans to hold another tournament next year "which would be bigger and better than this year's."

"Tyrone has picked up some more sponsors so he said he would like to expand this tournament," Williams added. "Believe me, there are a lot of players who will be very happy to hear this."

Why basketball when Wheatley's name is synonymous with football in this city.

"Fans may know him as a football star," Williams offered, "but Tyrone also is an outstanding basketball player, and you know he won four gold medals in track at the state finals when he was in high school."

Some 37 teams competed in the inaugural tournament - 16 adult teams, eight through 17; eight, in the 15 and under age group, and five teams in the 12 and under category.

Panic time!

Softball managers, where are you?

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Keith Brothers has reached for the panic button - and is ready to push it.

Brothers, who is an assistant Romulus recreation director and is tournament director for the 4th of July Romulus Men's Slo-Pitch Softball Tournament, is looking for local and area teams for the holiday tournament.

"We have two teams committed to play in this tournament, but we would like to put together a field of eight," says Brothers. "If there are any softball managers out there who have teams that would like to compete in the tournament I would like them to contact me as soon as possible."

Brothers says he will take

- Keith Brothers

entries right up to 6 p.m. today. The tournament is open to Class C-D calibre teams. There is a $125 per team registration fee, and games will be played under the American Softball Association's rules and guidelines.

The double-elimination tournament will be staged beginning at 9:30 a.m. July 4. All games are scheduled for the diamonds in Elmer Johnson Park.

Mercy refined

MHSAA adopts new playoff rule

When the high school football season kicks off next month, preps will play under a new rule that may end lopsided scores and games in the post-season playoff games.

The Michigan High School Athletic Association has adopted a change in the "mercy rule."

In the past, schools and conferences had an option to apply a mercy rule that allowed officials to end the game after a team has built up a 35 or more point advantage over their opponents in the second half.

However, the MHSAA's new rule requires a running clock whenever the point margin reaches 35 points after the first half. Translated, that means

"The mercy rule was created to help maintain the educational nature of the game, but it wasn't always applied, or applied properly."

- Jerry Cvangross

the clock won't stop for infractions unless, of course, there is a serious injury.

"The mercy rule was created to help maintain the educational nature of the game, but it wasn't always applied, or applied properly," said Jerry Cvangross, MHSAA associate director.

"We have also had some embarrassing situations, especially in the first-round of the playoffs, where a mercy rule may have been better for the kids."

And for the post-season, playoff bound teams, here's another point to ponder.

Anytime the visiting school is within 75 miles of the site of a pre-regional or regional football playoff game, the host school shall determine the day and the starting time of the game.

Generally, starting times for such games are 7:30 p.m. on Friday or Saturday or 1 p.m. on Sunday.

The recommendation also was offered by the MHSAA football committee.

A first for Canton

Dearborn golfer Diane Wazney fired a 90 to lead first-flighters in the Women's Suburban Golf Association action last week at Hudson Mills Golf Course.

Wazney's score was four strokes better than JoAnne McVicar's, who turned in a 94 for her efforts. McVicar's wound up the second low gross for the afternoon. Low net for the week went to Sandy Rivers, who carded a 77, while the runner-up honors for that category (low net) was posted by Mary Gene Stefanac, who came into the clubhouse with a 78.

In the meantime, Dearborn Heights' Helen Demshuk took second flight, low gross honors with a 103. Jean Rudolph was two-strokes back with 105 while Dorothy Cody finished the round with an impressive 73 for the low net.

Mary Ann Kraft and Pat Wilson - both of Dearborn Heights - scored 76s to tie for the second low net.

Tribute to Charlie Lau

Romulus golfers poised to play for 2nd annual tourney trophy

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

A Charlie Lau golf trophy will be introduced this year at the 2nd annual Community United Methodist Church's Men's Club golf outing on Aug. 2 at the Shady Hollow Golf Course in Romulus.

The annual trophy has been created to honor Mr. Lau, a former member of the men's club and a lifelong golfer, who died last year.

Mr. Lau also was the father of Charlie Lau, a late nationally known major league batting coach. The younger Mr. Lau has a baseball complex named after him behind Romulus High School.

Matt McGrane, a church men's club member and avid golfer, said the winner of the annual trophy will be a Christian with integrity, who has taken an active part in their church and served as a role model for others. The recipient also will be chosen because of the high standard of moral and ethical behavior he or she has demonstrated, as well as exhibiting a strong positive community image.

The golf outing will be a two-person scramble costing $45 a person. The tickets will include greens and cart fees and a hot dog lunch at the church after the outing. The church is located at Bibbins and Olive, across from Romulus Police Headquarters.

Registration for the non-alcohol outing will be at 7:30 a.m. and tee off (rain or shine) will occur at 8:30 a.m.

First and second place trophies also will be awarded for the top two- men teams, top two-women teams and top mixed teams.

Persons seeking more information can call the church office at 941- 0736, McGrane at 942-1244 or LeRoy Burcroff at 467-8058.

Proceeds from the outing will be used to support the church's mission work.

On the court of dreams were teams representing the cities of Jackson, Flint, Grand Rapids, Dearborn Heights, Lincoln Park, Highland Park, Oak Park, River Rouge, Garden City, and, of course, the host city, Inkster.

All games were played in the Booker T. Dozier Parks and Recreation Department.

The daylong shoot-out ended with the Detroit Shooters out of Detroit beating the Ups & Downs from Inkster to capture the first-place trophy in the adult division.

In the meantime, the Detroit Road Runners, also from Detroit, stopped Ink Town Players of Inkster, to win the Youth 17 & Under Division, while over in the Youth 15 & Under Division, a third Detroit entry, Detroit All-Stars, turned back Motown Magic, also from Detroit, for first-place honors.

Inkster Baywood Magic stopped a Detroit sweep of first-place trophies when they stunned the Detroit Pistons II squad to win the top honors in the Youth 12 & Under title.

According to Williams, all proceeds were donated to various Inkster Parks and Recreation programs.

"We qualified for the 1997 Class A World Series, which will be played later this summer in Dallas," said Quartuccio. "To successfully defend our (Anderson) title, we are going to have to be at our best. That's how tough this tournament will be this year."

As in the past, the Anderson tournament program will include several other exciting events, including a Home Run Derby.

Quartuccio also noted that the latest nominees to the Patrolman Anderson Hall of Fame will be inducted during ceremonies scheduled for 8:15 p.m. July 19. Prior to the induction, there will also be a tournament party that will include bar-e-que and refreshments, courtesy of Celebration DJs.

Classified sales manager named MCN 'Employee of month'

Rita Bedell credits her success in classified sales to being a "people person."

And, her ability to talk to people and to be genuinely concerned about their best interests are the reasons that she has been successful in her field.

Bedell has been employed by Michigan Community Newspapers for four years, starting as a salesperson.

"I didn't have any experience in selling ads, but I thought that I could use the experience I had in renting apartments to sell ads," Bedell said. "Obviously, you need the ability to talk to people to be successful in sales. You can't be shy."

"In addition, I put the customer first and work for his or her best interest," she said.

After two years selling classified advertising, Bedell was promoted to department manager.

"I love what I do, and I love people. I'd never want to do anything else," said Bedell.

She noted that there has been a lot of progress in her department since 1995, with advertising more than doubling since that time.

Bedell has also scored outstanding sales in the past month.

"The reason for the large sales total is that we have had special promotions that have had big responses. That, of course, encourages more advertising," she said. "Also, I think that the customers know that they come first, and they trust me to see that their ads get maximum attention and response."

Bedell, who lived in Romulus for most of her school years, graduated from Huron High School. She and her husband, Doug, are residents of Westland.

In her spare time, Bedell enjoys camping and visiting such sites at St. Ignace and the sand dunes. She makes wood crafts and sells them at craft shows on the weekends during the winter months. Her most successful craft items are those with holiday themes, she said.

Her selection as MCN Employee of the month was the unanimous choice of her peers, who respect her for her dedication to her work and customers.

Thanks a Million

WEEKLY SYNDICATED COLUMN by PERCY ROSS

Millionaire Percy Ross is known for his philanthropic work. He offers help and encouragement for those in need. He has earned a fortune and a wealth of knowledge during his lifetime and wants to share both. His motto: "He who gives while he lives... also knows where it goes."

Born Again Under a Different Zodiac Sign

Dear Percy: Have you accepted Jesus Christ as your personal savior? My pastor said that you were Jewish, but if you accept Jesus into your heart, you can be saved. You'll never walk alone again. Jesus is my life and I serve him everyday. I had been praying for a miracle when the Lord placed your column in my hands. I prayed a long time over it and believe that God has directed you to help me.

My son, who the devil entered, ran up my phone bill to $463.29 by calling some 900 number. He was seeking psychics to answer his questions instead of the Lord. He's repented, but the phone company has since shut off my service. My phone is a necessity because my daughter is a severe asthmatic and I've had to call 911 on more than one occasion. Help your brothers, Percy, first by accepting Jesus as your savior and second, by paying my phone bill. In Christ's name, Mrs. L. F. ... Daily Times/Review, Pekin, IL

Dear Mrs. F.: If your second request is contingent upon your first request, we have a problem. I'll be glad to pay off your phone bill, but ask that you get a 900 number phone block for back up. I do believe your son has repented, but as you know, we're all sinners and have weak moments. Why take a chance? As for accepting Jesus as my personal savior, to do so would denounce my religion. Let's just say, not today.

Dear Mr. Ross: You and your two-bit worthless dribble of advice/money don't impress me in the least. Any fool can stand at the window and throw his money away. That's exactly what you're doing. A true humanitarian would spend his millions on finding a cure for cancer or educating children in third world countries.

Buying a new refrigerator or replacing a broken hearing aid is penny-ante stuff. So go away and leave your newsprint space for real heroes.

Mr. C. A. H. ... Thrifty Nickel, Birmingham, AL

Write Percy Ross, P.O. Box 39000-B, Minneapolis, MN 55439. Include your phone number and the name of this publication. All letters are read. Only a few are answered in this column; others may be acknowledged privately. "Thanks a Million" is brought to you as a community service by

Totally redesigned Nissan delivers fantastic features

By KAREN STRONSKI
MCN Automotive Writer

Karen Stronski

Buyers in the market for a new sub-compact car should sit up and take notice of the all new Nissan 200SX. This car is totally redesigned for 1997, from its exterior look to the inside cabin.

This car delivers a variety of fantastic features, and comes in a palette of exciting, eye-catching colors.

Delivering class leading style and outstanding handling and performance, the 200SX offers an overall driving experience that parallels that of a much more expensive car.

The addition of safety features including dual airbags, steel side door beams, energy absorbing steering column, and a three-point safety belt system as well as optional A.B.S., gives the drivers of Nissan the confidence and security that only a well-built car can provide.

This particular sport coupe model doesn't compromise when it comes to styling either. Sleek sexy, and well-defined make this SX model vibrant and enticing. There is one difference that I have noticed though, and that's the rear spoiler and tail lights. In 1996 it had somewhat of a sportier look. This year Nissan has seemed to make it a little boxier looking. The rear spoiler and optional glass sunroof with the new tilt feature are a definite plus.

The ride in this Nissan was smooth and the steering was crisp. Acceleration however, was a problem. This car needs more power! It takes what seems like forever to get up to highway speeds. SX offers a 2.0 liter, 16 valve, 140 horsepower 4 cylinder engine. Gas mileage in this one was great though, 24 miles per gallon in the city and 32 on the highway.

We would be slipshod if we neglected to mention just a few deterrents. The clutch was too close to the brake, the leg and headroom was at a minimum, and the rear passenger's seat offers little in the way of comfort. The only interior colors are gray, and charcoal gray. Come on Nissan, try a splash of color. It would be a definite improvement.

200SX features an ergonomic cockpit design for drivers and front passengers. Vehicle controls are arranged not to distract the driver's attention from the road, and within easy reach of the steering wheel.

Standard features include power assisted rack-and-pinion steering and dual power remote controlled outside mirrors. New this year, the base model includes a rear spoiler and new chrome wheel covers. 200SX is available in three trim levels, Base, SE, and SE-R, providing buyers with a wide selection of equipment and optional features.

This Nissan has unique sporty coupe styling, with a low hood line and steeply raked rear window line that curves into the car's high trunk line. This design creates a smooth, aerodynamic shape that is also practical, allowing sizable trunk dimensions in a space efficient package.

Anyone who drives the Nissan 200SX will see that it's a sporty, great handling sub-compact sports car. The bottom line is, Why forego the pleasure? This Nissan is fun to drive. Enjoy the ride!

Westland Festival opens to crowds of visitors

BY JENNIFER JOHNSON
MCN Special Writer

The Westland Summer Festival is here, starting with a Wednesday night parade down Ford Road to the festival headquarters behind the Westland City Hall.

Festival goers can enjoy music, crafts, a Las Vegas party, rides, games and more.

Bingo and the Las Vegas Party will be inside the Bailey Center from 5:30 to 10:30 p.m. Friday and noon to 10:30 p.m. Friday and Sunday.

Quality Movers will sponsor a benefit Car Fest and Swap Meet from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on July 5. The proceeds will go to the Children's Hospital of Michigan.

Toarina's Pizza and the Westland Jaycees will co-sponsor a Pizza Toss at 4:30 p.m. Sunday in front of the stage.

Music and entertainment will be provided by Motor City Brass Band at 9 p.m. on Wednesday. Senior Day kicks off on Thursday with a performance from Jacobb Raming Polka Band from 2 to 4 p.m.

Friday's activities include the North American Indian Exhibition from 1 to 8 p.m., a golf chipping con-

HIDE And SHRIEK!

Live action laser tag at its best!

You thought you could escape...but we knew we'd eventually find you. Creeping slowly through the darkened haze. Confused by the mirrored maze.

Heart pounding. Laser poised for action.

Wondering what lurks around the next corner...

You don't just play the game. You're in it.

Present this coupon and receive

$2 OFF the purchase of a regular game!

Valid until July 31, 1997 Laser Quest Westland only.

What Is The Salvation Army?

We are a different things to different people. To some we provide emergency assistance. To some we offer recreational programs and to others we give opportunities to use their God-given gifts and talents to benefit others. The programs that we offer state and locally through the Salvation Army of Michigan are the following:

- Group Worship on Sunday
- Counseling
- Youth and Adult Character Building Programs
- Youth Recreational Programs
- Senior Citizen Programs
- Summer Camping Opportunities
- Emergency Assistance
- Christmas Assistance

Rent Our Facility

We rent our facility to outside groups & businesses.

- Meetings
- Training Seminars
- Award Banquets
- Receptions
- Installation Parties
- Recreation

1997 queen of pageant crowned

Jillian Crouson (pictured on the cover) was crowned queen of the Westland Festival on Saturday night.

First runner-up was Melanie Ledesma and second runner-up was Tracy Lynn James.

Among the judges was Sharon Popek of Michigan Community Newspapers/Wayne Eagle.

With the midway in the background and food concessions and rides in the foreground, the Westland Festival site has fun for all! MCN file photo
